

“TELLABRATION”™ 2017

The Seattle Storytellers Guild Presents An Evening of Tales and Music

With

Pint and Dale

William Pint and Felicia Dale travel throughout the US and abroad with their unique blend of traditional and modern maritime music played on a variety of instruments!

Pint and Dale say that they have “a tremendously good time” playing this music and “giving it our own spin”. The music is rich with the myth, narrative, rhythm, rhyme, and lyric associated with the days of the tall ships.

The Baltuck-Garrard family Storytellers

A family of storytellers and world travelers, collecting tales and experiences to share with us – Naomi Baltuck, Thom Garrard, Eli and Bea are much loved by our storytelling community. We can expect a rich variety of telling, with perhaps a tandem story or two as well.

For this special evening there is a new venue for SSG audiences:

The Nathan Johnson Hall at the University Unitarian Church, 6556 35th Avenue NE in Seattle.

The church can be easily accessed from I-5: (north) Exit 170 to NE 65th St East to 35th Avenue NE or (south) Exit 172 to NE 175th St East to 35th Avenue NE.

The hall seats 100, has an excellent sound system, and is handicapped-accessible.

Come and share this exciting program and new site with us!
